Kelbel Cup 2026

This year, the UCCS PGA Golf Management Program traveled to Las Vegas, Nevada to compete against five other PGA Universities in the Kelbel Cup.

The team played strongly throughout the event and finished in fifth place.

The tournament was hosted at TPC Las Vegas, a world-class facility managed by UCCS PGA Golf Management alumnus Denny Scholl, PGA.

Representing UCCS in the event were Liam Lake, Tim Stolo, Kenton Faulstich, Carson Kidd, Talyn Haskell, and Burt Miranda.

PGA Show

Students from the UCCS PGA Golf Management Program recently attended the 2026 PGA Show, one of the golf industry's premier events. Highlights of the trip included networking with golf professionals from across the country, attending Demo Day to experience the latest equipment and technology, and meeting YouTube golf personalities Peter Finch and Brad Dalke.

The Broadmoor

In February, the UCCS PGA Golf Management Student Society welcomed Russ Miller, PGA, Director of Golf at The Broadmoor, and Michael Sartori, Superintendent of The Broadmoor East Course, for a special presentation on hosting a major championship.

The two shared their experiences from hosting the 2025 U.S. Senior Open and provided students with valuable insight into the preparation and execution required to host a world-class event.

Topics included course setup, staffing, marketing, tournament operations, and the overall planning process behind a major championship. Students gained a behind-the-scenes look at the collaboration and attention to detail necessary to successfully host one of golf's premier events.

PGMSS Industry Panel

In March, the UCCS PGA Golf Management Student Society welcomed members of the program's Advisory Board for an engaging panel discussion with students. The panel featured Steven Barkowski, PGA, CEO of the Colorado PGA; Bob Doyle, PGA Legacy Member; Todd Laxson, PGA Head Golf Professional at the Country Club of Colorado; Mitchell Gore, PGA, recent graduate and Head Golf Professional at Denver Country Club; and John Easterbrook, PGA General Manager of Colorado Golf Club.

During the meeting, panelists shared insights into their career journeys, experiences within the golf industry, and advice for students pursuing careers in golf management. Students had the opportunity to ask questions, gain industry perspectives, and learn from accomplished PGA Professionals representing a variety of leadership roles across the golf industry.

End of the Semester Fun

The UCCS PGA Golf Management Student Society wrapped up the semester with a more casual April meeting at a nearby park. During the meeting, students elected the new executive committee for the upcoming semester, including Christian Foxworth as President, Hunter Pepper as Vice President, Luke Duffy as Tournament Director, and Michael Cowley as Assistant Tournament Director.

Following the elections, students enjoyed friendly competition through games of wiffle ball and pickleball, making for a great end-of-semester gathering outside of the classroom.

Pros Fore Clothes

The UCCS PGA Golf Management Program continues to make a positive impact through its participation in the Pros Fore Clothes Foundation Golden Hanger Challenge. The initiative encourages PGA Golf Management Programs across the country to collect and donate clothing to individuals and families in need.

The program's success also received local media attention as Julie Baker from FOX21 News visited campus to highlight the efforts of the students and the impact of the Golden Hanger Challenge.

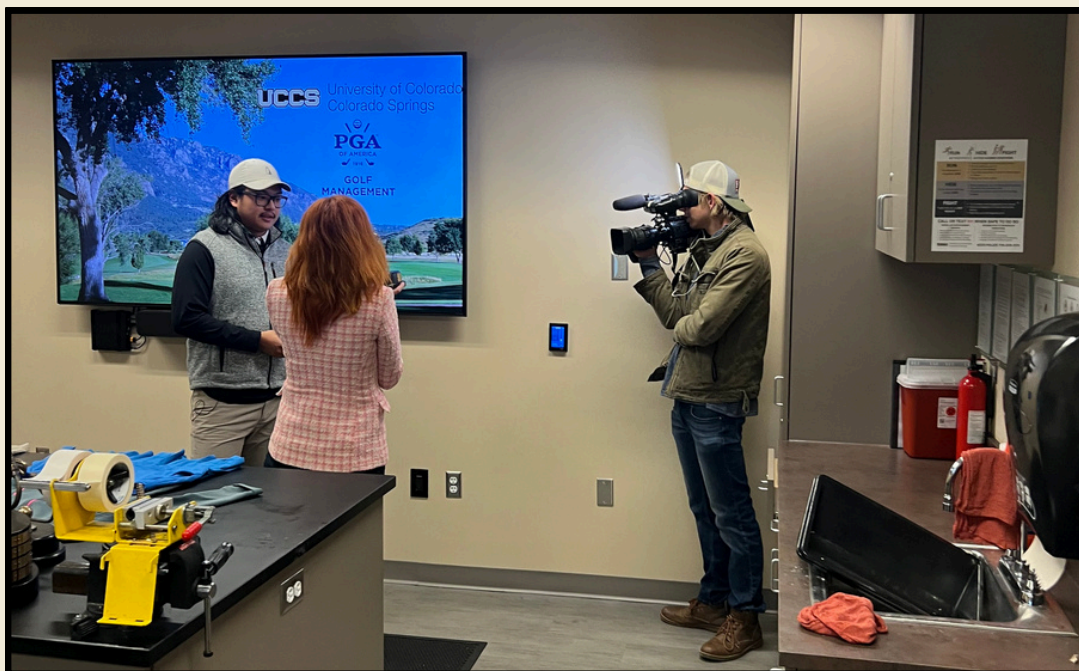

Pros Fore Clothes... Again

This year, the UCCS program collected nearly 1,900 pounds of clothing, averaging 34 pounds donated per student. All donations were provided to Springs Rescue Mission to support individuals and families within the Colorado Springs community.

“Our focus is less about competing against other universities and more about helping people in need,” said Mike White, President of the PGM Student Society.

Through projects like the Golden Hanger Challenge, UCCS PGA Golf Management students continue to demonstrate leadership, service, and a commitment to supporting the Colorado Springs community.

Family and Friends Golf

This spring, the program hosted its annual Family and Friends Golf Tournament at the program's home course, Cheyenne Shadows Golf Club. The event brought together students, staff, families, and friends for a day of camaraderie, competition, and celebration.

The tournament also gave families and supporters the opportunity to experience the home course of the PGA Golf Management Program and see firsthand where students spend much of their time developing their games and competing throughout the year.

Family and Friends Banquet

The PGA Golf Management Program at UCCS celebrated a successful year with its annual Family and Friends Banquet at the Ute Pass Cultural Center in Woodland Park. Nearly 180 students, families, alumni, faculty, and supporters attended, making it the largest Family and Friends Banquet in program history.

Guests enjoyed a warm and welcoming atmosphere as the program reflected on milestones, accomplishments, and memorable moments from throughout the year. A highlight of the evening was the induction of Jon Husby, PGA, into the PGA Golf Management Hall of Fame in recognition of his lasting impact and dedication to the program, its students, and the PGA of America.

COPGA College Prep Seminar

The Colorado PGA Section recently invited UCCS PGA Golf Management Recruiting and Outreach Specialist Paul DeSandro to present at its College Prep Seminar for junior golfers. During the presentation, Paul shared information about the UCCS PGA Golf Management Program and discussed the pathway the program provides for students pursuing careers in the golf industry.

The seminar gave junior golfers the opportunity to learn more about PGA Golf Management, career opportunities within the golf profession, and the combination of business education, internships, and PGA training offered through the program.
