

The fifth annual Daniels Fund Ethics Consortium Summit will be held October 18–19, 2018 at the Grand Hyatt Denver. The event, co-hosted by University of Colorado Denver and the University of Colorado Law School, will utilize a presentation and small group discussion format to connect a broad audience of students, faculty, and business leaders to principle-based ethics.

PURPOSE & FORMAT

The Daniels Fund Ethics Consortium Summit — an event of the Daniels Fund Ethics Initiative Collegiate Program — is designed to be an immersive and relevant educational experience that promotes and demonstrates the value of principle-based ethics. The Ethics Summit facilitates direct interaction and conversation among participants in a series of keynote presentations, panels, and small group discussions. A primary focus is the engagement of business leaders to extend the Ethics Summit’s relevance and value beyond the campus and into the business world.

GOALS

- Demonstrate that ethics education is critical and central to the creation of long-term value in business and society
- Increase the involvement of the business community in ethics education
- Expand awareness and impact of the Daniels Fund Ethics Initiative

PARTICIPANTS

Each of the Daniels Fund Ethics Initiative Collegiate Program schools identifies and invites 12 participants to attend the Ethics Summit as their representatives:

- Four students
- Four faculty members
- Four business leaders

This approach strengthens local relationships and ensures all attendees benefit from a wide range of experiences and perspectives.

TOPIC

“Putting Ethics Into Practice” is the topic for the 2018 Ethics Summit, and will explore the practical implementation of ethics in business.

Participants must register by Monday, September 10, 2018.
There is no registration fee.
